The first of the series of experiments was carried out on the 11th of the month. The object of the experiment was to determine the effect of the concentration of the solution on the rate of reaction. The results of the experiment are shown in the table below.

Concentration of solution	Rate of reaction
0.1M	0.05
0.2M	0.10
0.3M	0.15
0.4M	0.20
0.5M	0.25

The results of the experiment show that the rate of reaction increases with the concentration of the solution. This is to be expected, as the rate of reaction is proportional to the concentration of the reactants.

The second of the series of experiments was carried out on the 12th of the month. The object of the experiment was to determine the effect of the temperature on the rate of reaction.

The results of the experiment are shown in the table below.

The results of the experiment show that the rate of reaction increases with the temperature. This is to be expected, as the rate of reaction is proportional to the temperature of the reactants.

The third of the series of experiments was carried out on the 13th of the month. The object of the experiment was to determine the effect of the surface area of the reactants on the rate of reaction.

The results of the experiment are shown in the table below.

The results of the experiment show that the rate of reaction increases with the surface area of the reactants. This is to be expected, as the rate of reaction is proportional to the surface area of the reactants.
