4 DAY NATIONAL-LEVEL TRAINING PROGRAMME ON Drought Mitigation

Duration:
15-18 September 2026

Venue:
NIDM, Southern Campus, Vijayawada,
Andhra Pradesh

Background

Drought is one of the most complex, slow-onset natural hazards that affects millions of people in India, threatening food security, water availability, and rural livelihoods. Unlike sudden-onset disasters, drought evolves over time, making its onset and end difficult to determine. India's diverse agro-climatic conditions make it highly vulnerable to drought; approximately 68% of the country's cropped area is prone to drought to varying degrees.

Historically, drought management in India was relief-centric. However, with the introduction of the Manual for Drought Management in 2009, 2016 and its update in 2020, there has been a paradigm shift towards a management-centric approach. This manual provides a standardized framework for declaring drought based on scientific indices and mandates a proactive strategy involving monitoring, early warning, and mitigation.

In the wake of changing climate patterns, erratic monsoons, and increasing water stress, it is imperative to equip administrators and stakeholders with the technical knowledge required to implement the guidelines of the 2016 Manual effectively.

Rationale

While the Manual for Drought Management 2016 provides a robust framework, its effective implementation at the state and district levels requires specific technical expertise. Officials often face challenges in interpreting complex indices like the Standardized Precipitation Index (SPI), Vegetation Condition Index (VCI), and hydrological parameters.

Furthermore, the declaration of drought involves a strict stepwise process, from mandatory triggers to impact assessment and ground truthing. A lack of clarity on these protocols can lead to delays in declaration and subsequent relief funding from the SDRF and NDRF.

This training programme is designed to bridge the gap between policy and practice, and to build a deeper understanding of relief, response and reconstruction mechanisms that follow a drought declaration.

Aim of the Course

To build the capacity of government officials and key stakeholders in understanding the nuances of the Manual for Drought Management 2016, enabling them to effectively monitor, declare, manage and respond to drought situations through a scientific and proactive approach.

Objectives

- To provide comprehensive knowledge of the Drought Manual 2016, focusing on the shift from relief to risk management.
- To train participants in scientific monitoring and early warning tools, including meteorological, hydrological, and remote sensing indices (SPI, NDVI, NDWI).
- To explain the protocol for drought risk assessment and drought declaration, including the Step-wise Matrix approach and timelines for Kharif and Rabi seasons.
- To discuss financial mechanisms (SDRF/NDRF), Sixteenth Finance Commission recommendations, and preparation of Memorandums for central assistance.
- To build understanding of relief, response and reconstruction frameworks, including PDNA methodology.
- To explore long-term mitigation strategies, including watershed management, community resilience, and convergence with schemes like MGNREGS.

Methodology

- Thematic Lectures:
Delivered by subject matter experts and NIDM faculty.
- Case Studies: Analysis of past drought declarations and management across states.
- Table-Top Exercises (TTX):
Simulation exercises using hypothetical data (rainfall, NDVI) to practice drought declaration and response planning.
- Group Discussions: Peer learning on district-level challenges and solutions.
